"With Clarke Rendall, the quality is always good, and so are their presentation materials. I gave them a problem and they came up with a great solution"

"It does exactly what we wanted it to do. The low height and lightbox make it the ideal focal point. Like an open fire - it's warm and inviting"

A highly innovative use of materials, as standard

The beautifully simple styling of evolution® classic type Z is achieved through a feature privacy screen. Fabricated from a curved piece of high quality cast acrylic, this section is available in a range of etch effect film finishes as standard, and can also display cut-out logos and graphics.

For a more traditional twist on this contemporary shape, why not specify evolution® classic type Z with a formed screen finished in a plain colour or woodgrain finish.

Timeless design equals timeless appeal

Part of the original range, evolution® classic type 1 continues to provide the ideal reception desk solution to a diverse array of project requirements.

The thinking behind this eloquent and minimal design was based on listening to the market, and creating a simple yet superbly flexible solution in response. It was the strongest possible of foundations on which to base a design, and it's as true today as it was then. Which is why evolution® classic type 1 is still an extremely popular product today and promises to continue as such for the foreseeable future.
